

LA COLLECTION PAPIYÒT

International Buyer Orientation Package

Ten cottages. Ten butterflies. One sanctuary.

Buyer orientation and website-portal content. Not a contract, legal offer, final specification or investment guarantee.

Welcome to SHER

SHER Sanctuary Experiences introduces an intimate collection of ten tropical cottages in Saint Lucia. The buyer experience is built around privacy, natural materials, indoor-outdoor living, a recognisable butterfly-roof identity and a low-density relationship with the landscape.

Raised cottage construction, veranda living and the butterfly-roof expression.

The Butterfly Collection

La Collection Papiyòt is the guest-facing identity for the ten cottages. Each residence receives a signature butterfly, a memorable name and a curated colour or artwork story while remaining part of one controlled architectural family.

Cottage	Signature Name	Butterfly
C-01	Le Damier	Checkered Skipper
C-02	La Blanche de Cuba	Cuban White
C-03	La Flamme Dorée	Fiery Skipper
C-04	La Grande Blanche	Great Southern White
C-05	Le Monarque	Monarch
C-06	La Polydamas	Polydamas Swallowtail
C-07	Le Bleu Hanno	Hanno Blue
C-08	La Statira	Statira Sulphur
C-09	La Fritillaire d'Or	Gulf Fritillary
C-10	Le Paon Blanc	White Peacock

Location Orientation

The supplied location images place SHER Sanctuary within the Savannes Bay area of southern Saint Lucia. They are useful for orientation, but buyers must rely on the final survey, title information, access documentation and approved plans for legal facts.

Island context and local Savannes Bay orientation.

Local context showing the SHER Sanctuary marker, bay and nearby road network.

Travel times, road access, parcel boundaries, easements, utilities and legal descriptions must be confirmed in current project documents.

Understanding the Development Context

Conceptual land-use diagram indicating hospitality, condominium, villa, cottage and protected areas.

The conceptual plan shows the cottage collection as a low-density cluster with internal access and a landscape-facing orientation. It also identifies a protected wetland/no-build area. The diagram is a marketing and planning orientation image—not a legal survey.

- Confirm the exact cottage allocation and orientation.
- Confirm boundaries, access, parking and utility rights.
- Review common-area obligations and landscape controls.
- Verify the current environmental, planning and development approvals.

The Cottage Experience

Open-plan kitchen and living space with timber ceiling, screened glazing and landscape-facing veranda.

The cottage is conceived as a refined private retreat rather than a conventional hotel room. The living area, kitchen, bedroom, bathroom and veranda are arranged as one calm sequence shaped by shade, airflow, privacy and landscape views.

Signature Design Attributes

- Butterfly roof and deep overhangs.
- Raised construction on discrete supports.
- Natural timber, stone and warm neutral finishes.
- Large screened openings with storm-ready closures.
- Covered veranda for dining and lounging.
- King bedroom suite with built-in storage.
- En-suite bathroom and private outdoor shower.
- Concealed services and restrained low-level lighting.

Floor Plan Orientation

Cottage Type A orientation plan. Dimensions and areas require confirmation in final approved drawings.

The supplied plan indicates an enclosed cottage approximately 32 feet wide by 28 feet 6 inches deep, with a covered veranda. It includes a living/lounge, full kitchen, king bedroom suite, built-in storage, en-suite bathroom, private outdoor shower, covered entry and veranda.

The plan is suitable for orientation only. The signed purchase documents and final approved architectural drawings must control all dimensions, areas and inclusions.

Private Suite and Wellness Experience

Bathroom concept with timber joinery, natural stone, controlled daylight and a private outdoor shower.

The bathroom is designed as a private wellness room, with natural materials, screened daylight, concealed storage and a protected outdoor shower connection.

Arrival and Privacy

Sheltered arrival-side entrance with a quieter, more private façade expression.

The arrival side is intentionally more protected than the landscape-facing veranda. The objective is a gradual reveal: a sheltered entrance, controlled privacy and separation between guest arrival and service activity.

Frequently Asked Questions

Are the images final?

They communicate approved marketing and design intent. Signed legal documents, final drawings and specifications control delivery.

Can I change the layout?

Only approved options may be offered. Structure, roof, envelope, wet areas and services cannot be changed informally.

Is furniture included?

Confirm the final inclusions in the executed specification and inventory.

Can the cottage be rented?

Any rental programme, restrictions, fees and income arrangements must be confirmed in the applicable legal documents.

What costs are not included?

Buyers should receive a written schedule covering taxes, duties, legal fees, finance, insurance, utilities, service charges and exclusions.

When will the cottage be completed?

Rely only on the programme and completion conditions stated in the contract and formally issued revisions.

What protects my deposit?

The legal documents must identify the receiving account, payment conditions and refund rights. Obtain independent legal advice before transferring funds.
